BIOGRAPHY OF:

Sir Babatunde Lucky Omoluwa, KSS
Chairman/CEO
Pinnacle Communications Limited
Abuja, Nigeria

Sir Omoluwa is an illustrious entrepreneur and founder of Pinnacle Communications Limited, a Nigerian broadcast engineering company, which he still heads. Pinnacle has consistently won international awards from Nigeria, Ghana, the UK and USA companies in the areas of international best business practice, performance and commitment to commercial relationships and trade between the USA and Nigeria.

'Sir Lucky' as he is fondly called is a dedicated philanthropist in his native Nigeria, where poverty constitutes a major issue. He silently but eagerly reaches out to the Church, widows, the less able and orphans in the society.

Though an astute businessman, Sir Lucky, owing to a strong passion for good education, along with his wife set up The Centagon International School, Abuja, Nigeria.

Sir Lucky who has a background as a Golfer, in his spare time still enjoys the game. He also enthusiastically promotes the game of golf through sponsorships of amateur and professional competitions in Nigeria.

Sir Lucky, who was knighted by Pope Benedict in 2010, is on the board of several companies with interests cutting across construction, oil and gas services as well as international procurements. Sir Lucky was awarded a special congressional recognition by the US Congress in Washington DC in 2012.

Sir Lucky is happily married with children.